

The Richmond (Va.) Palladium tells a story of a violin made from wood cut from a log discovered some eight feet below the surface of the earth, and which geologists said was older than the flood.

"No," said he. "I'm not disposed to be a bad man. But I expect to go into politics and so I'm keeping engaged to three girls at a time, to get me up in lying."—[Boston Post, 1888.]

A LITTLE popinjay, who would demonstrate the eternal fitness of things better in the employ of the city scavenger, but who ekes out a miserable existence by publishing a so-called Knights of Honor Journal at Cincinnati, makes a puny attempt to annihilate us because we said in a recent issue that it costs $50 a year to belong to that organization. Our statement is true as to certain ages, 50 and over, but that it does not cost a younger person that much, we have since given columns of our paper to prove. The I. p. imagined however, that he must do something to retain his hold on the few gullible Knights who support him, hence his article which proves nothing beyond the fact that he has no right to membership in an organization which is presumably composed of gentlemen and ought to be kicked out.

THE Legislature is tinkering with about the only good law passed during the session of '79 and '80, that which gives the Commonwealth the right to produce counterproof in an application for a change of venue in criminal cases. Strange that the idiots can not tell well enough alone and attend to the important business that they have so far neglected. The change of venue business is in nine cases out of ten, nothing more than an effort at delay, and it is nothing but fair that both sides be heard on the question. The law as it stands can not operate against a prisoner, if there are real grounds to believe that he can not get a fair trial in the county in which he has committed the crime, for in this as well as in all other cases, he gets the benefit of the doubt.

MR. DAN. E. O'SULLIVAN, who has for the last year made the "Commonwealth" and "All Over the South" items in the Courier-Journal, so spicy and entertaining, has been promoted to the position of dramatic critic and amusement editor of the same paper, and is succeeded by Mr. W. J. Lampton formerly of an Ashland (Ky.) paper, but lately of that witty sheet, the Steubenville (O.) Herald. Since his debut into the newspaper business, Mr. O'Sullivan's march has been onward and upward, and his friends expect to see him in a few years, ranking with the leading men of his day in his chosen profession. The Kentucky press will cordially welcome Mr. Lampton back to old Kaintuck.

A BILL is before the National House with a fair prospect of passing, which will be hailed with delight by the farmers. It is to allow them to sell without license the tobacco grown by them, by retail or otherwise. As the law now stands, a tobacco raiser cannot sell his neighbor even so much as a "hand" of the weed without subjecting him both to a fine and imprisonment under the revenue laws, and in many cases persons ignorant of the law, have suffered unreasonably. A farmer should be able to sell anything he produces in any way and at any time that he may see fit, and all laws preventing him are hardships that ought not to be tolerated.

THAT rascally attempt of the republicans to delegate the tariff questions to a Commission selected by the president from interested civilians, has received a set back in the House, and it is not likely that it will come up again during the present session. It was called up Tuesday, but on account of the claim that it was not a bill to raise revenue, it was set behind 335 bills, it not being entitled to special privileges.

A RESOLUTION has been offered in the Senate to allow the people to elect their own Postmasters, Internal Revenue officers, U. S. Marshals, &c. The law would be a good one, but it will never pass in a Congress that has a republican majority. They would never consent to anything that would serve to make the power less central at Washington. It would be their death knell if they did.

THE Senate has passed the House bill repealing the test oath, which required members of the Legislature to swear that they had not used money, whisky or any other illegal means to secure their election. This is eminently proper, since nearly every officer that took the oath perjured himself, and yet not a single one of them has been prosecuted for it.

CONKLING says he has a $50,000 cash fee in a Mineral water suit and of course he would not accept a little judgeship at $10,000 a year. The position has been since tendered to Senator Edmunds, who declined the honor, and now it is said that the President is sitting up o' nights thinking who to appoint next.

Gov. BLACKBURN has grown tired of his every day business of remitting fines assessed against gamblers and gambling houses, and wants the legislature to relieve him to some extent by passing an act to license the nefarious business.

LEGISLATIVE.

—The Senate rejected the House bill to repeal the act making New Year's day a legal holiday.
—Senator Fugle is making an effort in his branch of the Legislature to repeal the tax for the A. and M. College at Lexington.
—The bill to make insanity a ground for divorce was reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee with opinion that it ought not to pass.
—The Legislature was not in session Tuesday, because of the death of Senator Wilkinson. Two members of the body have died since the session began.
—Senator Wilkinson, whose illness was noticed in our last issue, died Tuesday. He was a lawyer and editor, and stood high with the members of each profession.
—As the Idea of March advance the House is beginning to feel the importance of hurrying up matters, and has passed a resolution to hold evening sessions two days in the week.

—The Senate adopted 23 sections of the School bill, and on motion of Mr. Blain, amended the 15th by inserting "one of the Trustees shall visit the school at least once a month." There are still many more sections of the bill.
—The sum of $4,155 was paid by the Auditor last year for pro tem. Commonwealth's attorneys, and the House has requested that gentlemen to show cause why he did not deduct the amounts from the salaries of the regular Commonwealth's attorneys.

—The Cobblers at Frankfort are wasting time on presenting bills to provide for liens on sewing machines, to prevent railroads from discriminating between a person who buys a ticket and one who does not, &c., instead of attending to the important business for which they were elected.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—Henry C. Pindell, an able member of the Louisville bar, died Wednesday.
—Sweet & Co.'s banking House, Boston, has failed with liabilities of $2,876,111.
—The rainfall at Memphis so far this year is 27 inches, fully $\frac{1}{2}$ the usual annual average.

—The House Committee will report favorably the bill to make Washington Territory a State.

—Lewis C. Oldham, of Richmond, was killed by the cars on the K. C. R. R. near Bryant's Station.

—David Navarro, the 21-year-old show boy weighing 730 pounds, died in the Pittsburgh post-house of smallpox.

—In the course of a lecture in Chicago on "The Moral Use of Luxury and Beauty," Henry Ward Beecher fainted and had to retire.

—Beck's bill to punish unlawful certification of checks by officers of National Banks has been favorably reported back to the Senate.

—The floods have rendered destitute, 43,000 people in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi, who send up a powerful appeal for aid.

—April 9th is the 200th anniversary of the discovery of the mouth of the Mississippi by La Salle, and the occasion will be duly celebrated at New Orleans.

—The Rev. E. B. Head, Jr., has been ordered down and out and Thomas M. Cardwell will hereafter preside over the postoffice affairs of Harrodsburg.

—The Virginia repudiating Legislature has decided to gerrymander the State so as to give the districts to repudiating Congressmen and send the honest men to the rear.

—Bob Seaver, who attempted to commit a rape on a sixteen-year-old girl as she was going to school, was taken from the officers at Franklin, Ky., and lynched Monday night.

—Tarter, for County Judge, May for Clerk, Shadon for Attorney, and Silvers for Jailor, is the republican ticket nominated by the primary election in Pulaski, a few days ago.

—A syndicate has been formed in New York, to build a road from Louisville to Nicholasville, on the C. & S. R. R. Dr. Standford and Fred Wolfe, of the latter road head the enterprise.

—In committee of the whole in the United States Senate Wednesday, Ingalls' amendment to the Chinese bill, fixing ten years as the limit of suspension of immigration, was defeated by a tie vote.

—Lieut. Danenhov says of the thirty-three men who sailed on the ill-fated Jeanette only fifteen are known to be living. After deserting the boats the survivors walked 700 miles over ice and snow.

—In the New York stock market, Wednesday, $67,810 shares of railroad stocks were sold, and there were important declines in prices, but no failures were reported, and no great excitement prevailed. L. & N. went down five points, stopping at 67.

—A woman named Mary Herman, of Jeffersonville, Ind., resolved 56 days ago that she would never eat again and she has not, although every effort to induce her has been resorted to. She is very weak and can hold out but a short time longer before death will come to her relief.

—At Austin, Miss, between Memphis and Helena, the river had cut through the town, destroying the principal buildings. Among the number the Masonic Temple. The Centennial Block, a large brick building, is almost demolished, the water being twenty-five feet deep all around it. Several stores and dwellings were washed away and carried a distance of half a mile.

—A new sensation connected with Guiteau is regarding a young woman signing herself Clara Augusta Davis, Hoboken, New Jersey, who wrote a thirteen-page letter to Guiteau, in which she assured him of her devotion to his interest, and announced her intention of getting him out of jail, if money could accomplish it. It is thought that the woman was merely after an autograph letter from Guiteau, which she would be able to sell high after he is hung.

—Another dangerous flood in the Cumberland River is anticipated. The rainstorm of Wednesday extended from Texas eastward to Georgia, thence northward to Ohio and westward to Kansas. It is predicted that there will be additional and still more destructive floods in the Mississippi Valley.

GARRARD COUNTY.

—The candidates for county offices are getting thick.

—A telegraph line has been established between the Postoffice and the depot at this place.

—It said there will be a wedding in this vicinity shortly after Andy Barnside's return from Philadelphia.

—A hard rain has been falling continuously for twelve hours. No fears as to scarcity of stock water this Spring.

—H. C. Kaufman is a candidate for reelection for County Attorney of Garrard county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

—Horse thieves are getting in their work pretty lively in this county, six horses having disappeared from the Paint Lick neighborhood in the last few weeks.

BRYANTSVILLE.

—Here we come again, not from the gentle slopes of Gilbert's Creek, but from the breezy hills of "Lower Garrard."

—While we left the dear people of the Creek with sincere regret, we can but rejoice that our "lines have fallen in such a pleasant place" for we never received more kindly any where than here. Farmers are very busy; the "woodman's axe," the "plowboy's whistle" and the sound of the hemp-brake ring cheerily through the air.

But notwithstanding we have had a very mild winter, the croakers are still croaking. No feed, wet weather, &c., &c. Well, we suppose some people would not be satisfied in Eden. The Methodist meeting conducted by Revs. Taylor, of Danville, and Peoples, of Lancaster, closed on account of Mr. Taylor being quite sick, sooner than was at first intended. One addition. Mr. Ben Dunn deals out the "tally" behind the counter of Mr. James Bryant. The Christians of the Grove Church have employed Mr. Grubbs, of Harrodsburg, to preach to them two Sabbaths in a month. Mr. Thompson, of Nicholas, will preach this year for the Baptists of Mt. Hebron, on the 2d Sunday of each month. Mr. Mat Hutchinson and family visited relatives here last week.

Miss Bettie Doores commenced school at Mt. Hebron, Monday, with about thirty scholars. Mrs. Will Lear and Mrs. Jas. Jones are quite sick. The smallpox scare is over. There has been no case for two months. What next? Suppose brother Barnes has returned to his old love, THE JOURNAL. Praise the Lord.

MT. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

Sam. M. Burdett, Editor.

—Wednesday, as the North bound freight train was passing Gum Sulphur, Charles Hutchinson, a brakeman who was standing on top of the cars, slipped and fell on the track between the wheels. Several cars passed over him, severing his body in two places. Death was, of course, instantaneous. His remains were taken to Harrodsburg. Charlie was a Rockcastle county boy and his death will be widely deplored. His mother and brothers have our warmest, tenderest sympathies.

—Owing to a call elsewhere which he cannot neglect, Eld. J. L. Allen will not preach here next Sunday. He will, however, preach here on the third Sunday in this month at 11 o'clock, A. M., and also in the evening. Father F. J. Donnelly, of Richmond, will lecture in the Court-house in this place next Monday at 7 o'clock P. M., subject—"The Church the True Guide." On Tuesday evening next, at 7 o'clock, he will lecture in the School-house at Pine Hill; subject—"The Church and the Bible."

—Wednesday night, thieves made a raid on D. N. Williams' smoke-house, and carried off two hams. It had been some weeks since Mr. W.'s smoke-house was robbed and an idea had gotten abroad that every body in this county was well supplied with meat, though the price kept well up in the market. In effecting their entrance, the thieves made considerable noise which aroused Mr. Williams. He arose quickly, picked up his double-barrel shot gun and sallied valiantly forth. He was unable to see the thieves, but espied a dog which accompanied them. He snapped his gun several times at this dog, but presently discovered that his weapon was not loaded. He then returned to the house and charged the gun. When he emerged again, the dog had vanished. The popular conundrum hereabouts is, "Why don't D. N. Williams put a lock on his smoke-house door?" The answer is, "I give it up."

—A crime, so atrocious as to be without a parallel, was committed in this county last Monday night. All black with crimes of the very worst sort has been the history of the county heretofore, but the horror of Monday night has added a page of hellish blackness. About seven miles from this place, and North of here, in the head of a hollow that leads into Roundstone Creek is a little cabin, situated in the woods, wherein have dwelt for the past twelve months, Mary Sigman and her family. Mary has long been widely known as the celebrated courtesan of Upper Roundstone. Her family consisted of her mother, Bettie Sigman, aged about seventy years, and five children—two boys and three girls—whose ages range from fifteen to six years. Mary has, for some months, been enacting, and the arrival of another baby would have been among the events of the next few weeks. Last Monday night the inmates of the little cabin retired to bed as usual. There is only one room in the house and this was made to contain three beds. Mary occupied one bed, her mother and the two girls slept in another, and the two boys and youngest girl were tucked away in the trundle bed. Mary was restless, complained of being sick and none of the family slept well. About midnight there came a knock at the door and a voice saying, "open the door." "Who is that?" inquired Mary. "Never mind who it is, open the door," was the answer. "It's Han. Brannaman," said old Bettie Sigman, who doubtless thought she recognized the voice. "Is that you, Han?" said Mary, getting up and opening the door. A man entered holding his hands up before his face. "Who are you and what do you want?" Mary inquired again. "Never mind who I want to see you a minute," answered the man. There was very little light in the room, save that made by a few flickering flames from some chinks in the fire. Mary lighted a lamp. The man blew it out, but not till the older boy and the twins had seen him sufficiently well to be able readily to recognize him afterwards. Mary asked the man to have a chair, and to excuse her for not staying up that she was sick. She returned to her bed. After sitting awhile the man got up and came to Mary's bedside. "I am awful drunk," he said; "what is good for a drunk man?" Mary laughed. "The best thing is to get sober, I reckon," she said lightly. She could not have suspected the man's evil mission. "Get up," said the man; "I want to talk to you." "I can't," said Mary. "I'm sick, I don't know who you are; please go away and let me alone." The man insisted on her getting up. "I want to talk to you a while," he said. At last Mary told him to go to the fire and she would get up. He returned to his chair and she arose and took a seat beside him. The man sat in a stooping position, his face buried in his hands. Directly Mary said: "If you want to say anything to me, say it now, for I am sick and must go back to bed." "Wait," said the man, "until I get a drink." He got up and went towards the door where a bucket of water sat upon a shelf. Just as he reached the door he turned, and pointing a pistol at Mary, fired. She sprang to her feet and rushed down between the beds shouting: "For God's sake, don't kill me and my little children!" Another shot followed the first in quick succession. The woman dropped to the floor. Death must have been instantaneous. But the assassin continued, to fire amid the screams of the children and old Bettie Sigman. After emptying his pistol into Mary's body, he went out. In a little while he returned. Old Bettie was standing between the beds, wringing her hands and uttering cries of anguish, her daughter's corpse lying at her feet. The assassin leveled his pistol again and a bullet sped through old Bettie's brain. She fell across the bed a corpse. Other shots were fired at her and then the fiend turned his weapon again on the lifeless body of Mary. He fired about fifteen shots in all, and then left the house. The frightened children did not stir for a long time. At last the older boy told the others to keep still and he would go and fetch the neighbors. With the first streaks of dawn a large crowd of men and women had gathered at the cabin. The spectacle which met their gaze was horrible beyond recall. The door was splattered with blood and strewn with brains. There was blood on the walls and ceiling, blood everywhere. On Mary's body were nine wounds. One ball entered her body behind between the shoulders and came out through the right breast; another wound, through the left breast, through the heart, lodging in the back; another passed in at the small of the back lodging in the front part of the abdomen; two balls went thro' the brain. Any one of these five wounds was necessarily fatal. A ball had gone through each wrist; another passed thro' the right arm, between the elbow and shoulder, and still another had passed through the left breast, making a deep wound. Two wounds only were found on old Bettie, both in the head, and either of them fatal. The women prepared the bodies for burial; the men began to make investigations. Just outside the door were found a number of empty cartridges. Some tracks were discovered, one made by a fine boot, with small heel, and a plate on the heels, fastened evidently with large screws or tacks. The older boy, whose name is Jason, and the twins, Lucy and Mary, aged eleven years, told their story of the occurrence. They gave the account which has been here written, with the additional information of a description of the man, and that he was followed into the house by a little dark, brindle dog, which old Bettie had driven out. From the description given by the children, Bob Lear, a neighbor present, recognized the assassin. "It's Jim Bishop, a brother of Wat. Bishop, who was killed at Mary's house a year ago," he said. "I saw him Sunday riding behind Sam. Hysinger. They were going to Wm. Hysinger's." A consultation was held and it was decided on to arrest Bishop. Constable James Lear and two other men went to Wm. Hysinger's where they found Bishop at breakfast. He was taken into custody. His pistol was found in a table drawer in the house. It was a Smith & Wesson, double-action, No. 38 caliber. Four of the chambers were loaded and one was empty. Into this empty chamber was slipped one of the cartridge hulls picked up before Mary Sigman's door. It fitted exactly. Bishop wore a pair of fine boots, with small heels. On the heels were fastened with large screws or tacks. He was taken by his captors to Mary Sigman's cabin. The children all recognized him as the man who had killed their mother. This, before they knew he had been arrested. He was brought to town, taken before Judge McCune, and his trial fixed for to-day (Friday). About the time he reached town, Wm. Hysinger (Bishop's cousin), and A. S. Henderson (Hysinger's brother-in-law), came in and said that they would swear that Bishop stayed at Wm. Hysinger's the night before; that Henderson and his wife also stayed there and Henderson and Bishop slept together. This speedy vindication of Bishop had an effect contrary to what was expected. Later in the day a warrant was issued for Hysinger and Henderson, charging them as accomplices of Bishop in the murder. A Coroner's inquest was held over the dead bodies of Bettie and Mary Sigman. The testimony of the children and that of Drs. McKee and Brown was heard and the verdict of the jury was that they came to their death at the hands of James Bishop. The tracks of three persons were found leading from the house near Wm. Hysinger's house to Mary Sigman's cabin and back again. Wm. Hysinger has a little dog which answers very well the description of the dog at Mary's cabin the night of the murder. There are other circumstances that point towards the guilt of the parties accused. A full and fair investigation will be had and if they are innocent they will be vindicated; if guilty they will be punished, no doubt, as they deserve. It will be remembered that in May or June, 1880, Wm. Bishop and Adam Hysinger were killed at Mary Sigman's one night, by Ab. Fish. The Hysingers have ever been unrelenting in their hatred of Fish and Mary Sigman. James Bishop came here last Friday from near Knoxville, Tenn. He has been said by the Hysingers, so the report goes, that when Bishop came here the trouble about Wat and Adam's death would be settled. James Bishop is about 5 feet 10 inches high, broad-shouldered, big-boned, and well-muscled. His age is 25 years, and he weighs 138 pounds, though he looks like he would weigh 160. His eyes and hair are black, and he has a light, black mustache. His voice is coarse and the tones are drawing. He is in jail—Hysinger and Henderson are under guard. Bishop says he came here on business and intended to go West in a few days. It is supposed he gratified his vengeance for his brother's and cousin's death by this cowardly assassination of weak, helpless, defenseless women. Why, if it were vengeance he sought, did he not seek the man who killed his brother and cousin? Mary Sigman has had a strange, eventful history. She was seduced at 14 years of age. At that time she was pretty, intelligent and promising. She has always lived in the country 'round about the upper Roundstone. For the past 15 years she has been the acknowledged queen of the courtesans in that section. She inspired men with a peculiar infatuation. It is said that, first and last, she has been the cause of the death of 8 men, and she has certainly been the mistress of more than ever paid homage to one of her class in all this section of the State. She was a little woman of good form, active and compact. Her hands and feet were small and well fashioned. She had a small, round face, plain and expressive. Her eyes were a light hazel, and her hair was auburn. Her mouth might be considered pretty. The lips were a trifle thick and decidedly sensual. Her eyes when she was animated, had a peculiar semi-fascinating lustre. She must have been about 33 years of age, but she did not look a day older than 25. The poor Sigman! To have been thus cruelly shot to death by a cowardly assassin! Sure, she deserved a different fate, even if a bloody one. For 'spite her long career of sin and the many blood stories in her history, there was something of the romantic in this woman and her life. She had a good heart, they say, and was never known to go back on a friend. Her disposition was quite a happy one, for she was always gay, except when she was in temporary mourning for some fellow who had killed some other fellow, or had been killed himself for her sake. And in all the difficulties that have been over and about her, it is not known that she ever handled a weapon. They say, too, that she was as truthful as the most truthful. She would not tell a lie, and her veracity was never called in question. After all, perhaps, she was not so bad as she was painted by some. It may be, she was only unfortunate. At any rate, now that she is dead, and her fate was so horrible, we do not all find it in our hearts to say, God, pity her!

A GREAT PUBLIC SALE!

By virtue of a deed of trust executed to me by Col. Isaac Shelby, Jr., and his wife, on the 26th day of April, 1881, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the premises in Lincoln Co., Ky.,

ON THURSDAY, MARCH 30th, 1882,

"Crab Orchard Springs"

Property. The place has been famous for 50 years, and needs no puff. The waters are unequalled in variety or virtue. The grounds, beautifully laid out and shaded, embrace 75 acres. The new brick Hotel is one of the finest and most costly in the country. It is only 5 hours by rail from Louisville and Cincinnati, or from Knoxville and Chattanooga. Everything is in readiness for the coming season, and the Hotel could be thrown open at a week's notice to 300 guests.

On one head there be no doubt. The sale will, in good faith and WITH ABSOLUTE CERTAINTY, be made on the day announced, and the highest bidder will get the property. Immediate possession and a perfect title are guaranteed to the purchaser.

Terms.—One-third of purchase price, cash, the balance in 6 and 12 months, in equal installments, with 5 per cent. from day of sale. Bonds required with approved personal security, and a lien also retained. The purchaser will, however, be permitted to pay off his bonds and the accrued interest at any time before maturity.

PERSONAL.

—MISS BELLE CASH is on a visit to the Misses Hocker, in Parkville.

—MR. LOUIS H. RAMSEY presented his sister, Miss Luella, with a handsome piano while he was at home.

—MRS. H. T. HARRIS has gone to visit her friend, Mrs. Dr. Helm, at Bowling Green, and to attend Mr. Barnes' revival. Mrs. Harris will be remembered as the originator of the "faith cure" in this vicinity.

—MISS SUE HOPPER, of Lebanon, accompanied by Master Lee M. Hopper, son of Editor James W. Hopper, came up on the train yesterday, to visit at Mr. Ed. Carter's. Lee is a bright, handsome little fellow, and talked as intelligently of his father's business as if he were twice as old as he is.

—JAMES T. CARSON, representative of A. R. McCown & Co., Importers, Philadelphia, has his samples spread out in Eph. Owsley's new store-room and they nearly fill the establishment. The samples alone at wholesale prices are valued at over $700. Jim is a worthy boy, and we are glad to know that he is with such a solid house.

—SENATOR ROBT. BLAIN paid his respects to his good friend, the INTERIOR JOURNAL, Tuesday morning and gave it a good many points about legislation, that it is impossible to get from the printed reports. He is fully posted on all that is going on, and has proved himself a most valuable member. In response to our inquiry as to the probable time when the body would pitch its tents and steal away from Frankfort, he said that the important business yet undone ought to be completed by April 10th, but he did not believe an adjournment would be had earlier than May.

LOCAL MATTERS.

IRISH POTATOES at McAlister & Bright's $1.25 per bushel.

THE smaller girls of the College give a soiree this evening.

NEW YORK EARLY ROSE, Burbank and Hoosier Potatoes at W. H. Higgins'.

JAMES DUDDERAR sold to W. S. Spoonmore a vacant lot adjoining the St. Asaph, 16x33 for $125.

OWING to the scarcity and high price of beef, I am compelled to sell the best round and sirloin steak at 12½ cents. J. T. Harris.

THE old Craig House, until recently occupied by Dr. Peyton, is being razed to the ground—another eye sore about to disappear forever.

THE accounts of my father, R. H. Wear, are in my hands, and those indebted are earnestly requested to call on me and settle. M. C. Wear.

MR. J. T. HARRIS again assumes charge of the Commercial Hotel, Mr. Green Nunley retiring. The latter will go at once to a fine farm in Fayette county.

OUR attentive correspondent at Monticello, Dr. B. S. Frisbie, is announced as a candidate for County Clerk of Wayne. The present incumbent Mr. J. N. Shepherd is also a candidate.

THERE were 998 votes cast in the primary election of Saturday against 906 in the last one before it—a gain of 92, notwithstanding the order as to who should vote, was stricter than ever before.

WE are indebted to the ladies of the Christian Church for a "pressing" invitation to attend their supper in the College building at Hustonville, to-night. These ladies never do any thing in a half-way manner, and we will guarantee that every one who attends will more than get his 50 cents worth of good things.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS FOR SALE.—Col. W. G. Welch, Trustee, advertises the sale of Crab Orchard Springs, to occur on the 30th of this month. It is one of the most noted and decidedly one of the most fashionable and attractive watering places in Kentucky, and ought to sell well. The sale will be made as sure as there is a bidder, and we would advise parties looking for an investment to examine the property at once.

MORE EXPLICIT.—In order that all may have a fair opportunity to solve our rebus (in this paper), we allow the awarding to remain open until March 23d. Meanwhile all solutions sent in are numbered and filed. The first person with a correct answer is entitled to the prize. In the event all are wrong we shall give to the nearest correct. We will publish the successful contestants in this paper. Bruce, Warren & Co., Double Clothing and Grocery House.

The Rink will open promptly at 7 and close at 10 to-night.

PARTIES needing corn can be supplied at Lincoln Mills at any time with any amount from a bushel to 100 barrels, from $4 to $4.25 per barrel.

WE can't wait on those who are indebted to us any longer, and intend putting their accounts in the hands of an officer if not settled immediately. B. Mattingly & Son.

DICK SHANKS, the little negro cripple, broke into Mr. Harris' market-house, Friday night, and stole $4 or $5 in money. He was put in jail and will be tried this morning.

ALL day Wednesday, and till noon yesterday, the rain fell in torrents, causing the streams to get on nearly as big a tear as before. The Hanging Fork was nearly as high as before when we crossed it yesterday.

IN Hoc.—Elvis Webb, of this county, has been lodged in the Lebanon jail on two bench warrants charging him with the one for robbery, the other for stealing a horse and buggy. He had not been able to give the $1,000 bail at last accounts.

BRICK.—Mr. J. W. Ruffer, one of the best brick makers in the country, leaves tomorrow for other fields. He has made during the last four years in Stanford and vicinity, about 3,200,000 brick. He does good work and is a reliable hardworking man.

THE Stanford correspondent of the Danville Advocate no doubt feels that he has gotten even with the Big 15. Well, honors are easy. There were ten voters in the troupe. Everybody will admit that the show was as popular as one of the defeated candidates. We might say more, but we have to pay for this. Big 15.

OLD BONES.—While plowing up the soil in a field near town, on Wednesday, Mr. C. C. McRoberts ran into a box, about three feet long, which, upon examination was found to contain a lot of human bones, bottles, &c. From the tightness of the soil over it, it is supposed that the box had been there for years, and that it was the remnant of a "subject" dissected by Dr. Jack Craig.

THE Louisville Commercial is doing a good work in showing how the Commonwealth's Attorney and Trustee of the Jury Fund in Louisville, have blackmailed the gamblers of that city, thereby enriching themselves at the expense of the State. Surely the laws need changing when officials can take advantage of it and use it not as a preventive of crime, but to extort money for their own pockets.

DIVORCE.—Five suits for divorce have already been brought for Circuit Court. All are white and in each case the women seek to be freed a vinculo matrimonii. Following are the names of the parties and the reasons assigned for the actions: Mrs. H. L. Steger vs. F. M. Steger, abandonment for over five years; Sarah Mullins vs. John Mullins, inhuman treatment; Mary vs. Lewis Ball, drunkenness, cruelty, &c.; Paulina vs. Enoch Upthegrove, abandonment and failure to provide, and Clara C. vs. Jas. F. Rogers, drunkenness, abandonment and failure to provide.

U. S. MARSHAL.—Col. J. K. Faulkner, of Lancaster, was here Tuesday, and on being questioned as to his prospects for the U. S. Marshalship, said that he had two interviews with the President while he was in Washington, but the most he could get out of him was that his claims should be fully considered before an appointment was made. He further said that Arthur treats the army of office-seekers that call on him with a dignified courtesy that is most consoling, but never goes so far as to make a direct promise to anybody. "It cannot be said about his administration that there is a power behind the throne greater than the throne itself," the Col. continued, "for Arthur is President in every sense of the word."

A WEEK or two ago the Danville Advocate contained a gentle but timely rebuke to the merchants of the town for giving their job work to a drummer for a city printing house without at least giving it a chance to say what it would do it for. The same drummer has been here and strange to say, got a job or two—although we promise to duplicate any prices, except on specialties, such as druggists' prescriptions, and guarantee as good, if not better work. One of the merchants pleaded with the drummer, took down his prices and coming to us, said, "I want a number of jobs done and if you can do it any where near these figures, I want you to have it." We figured it out at our regular prices and found that we could not only save him express, but about 50 cents besides. The merchants man is Henry C. Bright, and he is a white man, all over. Always get our estimate on job work and we'll guarantee you will not send it elsewhere, except you are of that stupid class, who think that a city job, even though half done is better than one done in a country town.

LITERALLY CUT IN TWO.—Wednesday, about 2 P. M., while Capt. Gray's and Engineer Soden's freight train was leaving Gum Sulphur, Charley A. Hutchinson, a young man of 20, son of Mrs. Sallie Hutchinson, of this place, was thrown from the brake he was trying to take off and falling between the cars to the track, was horribly mangled by several cars passing over him. The wheels passed over his waist, and with the exception of the skin that held together in several places, he was cut literally in two; besides the flesh was torn from one arm, the other lacerated and his face disfigured. It is not known exactly how the accident occurred, as he was not seen till under the wheels. His mangled body was put in the caboose and brought to his weeping mother, who is nearly frantic in her grief. Young Hutchinson was a warm hearted, steady and capable boy, and was one of the mainstays of a widowed mother and several small sisters, which makes his untimely and terrible death the more lamentable. His funeral will be preached at his mother's residence by Rev. J. M. Bruce, at 8:30 this morning after which the remains will be taken to Danville Cemetery for interment.

CIRCUIT COURT will begin here on the 20th, and to-day is the last for filing suits to be heard during the term. The docket, we are told, will be smaller than for years.

REMEMBER we are headquarters for Flour, Meal and family supplies of all kinds. Best straight Flour $4.25; Patent, $4.50; straight family, $4.00. McAlister & Bright.

A STATEMENT of the National Bank at Somerset shows that institution to be in a most flourishing condition. The capital stock is $50,000, while the surplus fund is $34,000 and the individual deposits $184,440.89. Our friends, the Gibsons, know how to handle money to the best advantage.

MARRIAGES.

—A Missouri paper of recent date tells of the marriage of Miss Mattie McAlister, at Converse, to Mr. John Moran. Miss Mattie is a native of this county where she is well known for her great personal beauty and amiability of character.

RELIGIOUS.

—Rev. Walter Lackey, a colored divine of this place, has accepted a call to preach for the Somerset (colored) Baptist Church. The first colored man ever admitted to the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church in South Carolina, has just been ordained at Charleston.

—The Baptist Publication Society employs 100 missionaries, scattered through 44 States and Territories of the Union, and as the fiscal year of the society closes at the end of this month it calls for increased contributions for its work of church and Sunday school extension.

—After more than a year, we had the pleasure of seeing Rev. George O. Barnes, Miss Marie and the rest of the troupe Evangelique, at Goresburg, yesterday, as they were changing cars for Paris. They were looking well and happy over the grand triumph of their meeting at Bowling Green, for the glorious results of which see P. S. to Mr. Barnes' letter elsewhere.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—Good White Seed Corn for sale. Forstus Reid. 2t.

—Will Hall bought of Jno. G. Lynn, a young horse for $125.

—Illinois has 2,676,000 acres in winter wheat, which is 275,000 less than last year. The average condition is 4 per cent. better than last season.

—A farmer of experience in wool growing says that there is more money in growing wool at twenty cents per pound than in loaning money at ten per cent. interest. —[Live Stock Journal.]

—A stock company is being formed to put up an ice machine at Richmond... 500 cattle of 700 to 1,200 lbs. weight sold Court day at 3 to 5 cents. Oxen brought $90 to $115 per yoke, and broke mules $110 to $175. —[Herald.]

—PARIS CATTLE.—400 to 500 cattle on the market, mostly inferior, which sold at prices ranging from $3 to $5.25. There were 50 or 60 head of mules, which sold at $109 to $170; demand active. Horses sold well; common, $100 to $120. —[The new deeds recorded since last week, are G. C. Rothwell, of Missouri, to Geo. W. Riffe, of 45 acres of land near McKinney, for $1,000, and 10 acres of land near Crab Orchard, sold by H. J. Deboard to Hunley Singleton, for $100.

—CINCINNATI.—Cattle continue in demand, common at $2.50 to $3.25; good to extra butchers grades, $5 to $6; common to best shippers, $5.50 to $6.25; common to choice oxen, $2.75 to $5.50; feeding steers, $4.50 to $5.25; stockers, $3.50 to $4.25. Hogs have declined and are now quoted at $6.75 to $7 for best butchers and heavy shippers, fair to good light, $6.30 to $6.70; common, $5.25 to $6. Sheep are also lower, common to fair 3½ to 5½ cents per lb.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

Highland.

—G. W. Young, C. L. C., sold one bay mare to J. M. Rice, for $20 a few days ago.

—The election at this place passed off very quietly, but we are sorry to say there were three or four persons got drunk.

—Wm. and W. H. Young, and George Crawford, of College Hill, start to-day, with their families to McPherson county, Kansas. We hope they will be satisfied in their new home. —[For. R. C. Spencer's writing and singing school is progressing finely. He will give a concert on Saturday night.]

Engleman's Mill.

—The sick in this vicinity are all on foot again.

—The few warm days last week gave the farmers down this way a little touch of the corn planting fever, but they had better go slow. March is rather uncertain.

—John Beazley, our neighbor of color, just across the line, was indicted in the Boyle Circuit Court for selling whisky without license, and had to dance to the tune of $40.

—The checker players at Bright have suspended operations for a while, and have all gone to work in earnest, trying to get the prize offered by Bruce, Warren & Co., for making a solution of the Rebus.

—We had the pleasure of seeing the Big 15 Saturday night, and a queer show we never attended. You could have heard a pin drop whilst the performance was going on. There was not even a smile in the audience.

—Burdett & Co.'s saw mill suspended operations for a few days, and during the absence of the hands some hungry thief stole all of their meat, meal, flour &c., and would have stolen the mill if they could have eaten it.

—It seems that our long horse kinder got left, but one consolation we have, he couldn't have been beaten by a nicer gentleman than Tom Newland. This end of the county is solid for him. The talked of independent candidates will have a poor show down this way.

Crab Orchard.

—And still it rains!

—Bailey Collins, a section hand, fell from a hand car last week and the car passed over him breaking his leg below the knee.

—Little Walter, a son of W. K. Buchanan, has pneumonia. Henry Pettus is still confined to his bed with malarial fever.

—Dr. Lewis, of whom we spoke last week, has rented the house and lot of Mrs. Sarah Wells, on Lancaster street, and will remove thereto in a short time.

—Dr. C. C. Graham is here again looking remarkably well. Miss Bettie Doores is with her sister, Mrs. P. E. Parrish, near Bryantville. Elder Jasper Livingston has another new Campbellite at his house, a handsome girl.

—We must speak a good word for our band, which is one of the best in the State. Their principal instruments are flutes, guitars and violins, and they make music equal to an Italian band, at least we thought it the sweetest music we ever heard when we were recalled from dream-land the other night by heavenly strains.

—We were pleased to meet this week our handsome friend Dr. Andrew Seargent, of the Louisville Hospital. He tells us that at the expiration of his time at the Hospital, which will be April 1st, he will go to Hopkinsville to practice his profession. Dr. Seargent is certainly a young physician of fine promise, intelligent, affable, and possessing all the qualifications of a perfect gentleman. He will be a star in his profession wherever his lot may be cast. May his future years, as have his past, be crowned with success.

Hustonsville.

—Bring your carriage to Matson for repairing and trimming. Your horse needs a coat of paint; he can put it on.

—J. M. Cook calls earnestly and urgently on all indebted to him to come forward and make immediate payment. His business absolutely requires the money.

—Don't forget the supper to be spread by the ladies of the college for the benefit of the Christian Church on the evening of the 10th inst. Rink skaters, oil your bearings for prizes.

—Mr. Jennings, of the toll gate above town whose brain has been seriously affected for several weeks, is drawing rapidly near his end. —Mrs. S. T. Carpenter has been very ill, but is reported by Dr. Brown as improving.

—We have heard of the death of Will Morrison, which occurred suddenly on the 1st inst, at his home at Belmont, Ky. Mr. Morrison was formerly a citizen here and widely known, being related to many of the best families in the county.

—Tuesday was county court day for the West End, Judge Peyton on the bench. Sheriff Dan Miller was at post, but courteously gave way to Messrs. Menefee and Carpenter, of Stanford. In re Yowell vs. Lucas, judgment for $19.50 and costs was rendered in favor of plaintiff. Damage and costs aggregating $29. —Messrs. Cecil and Woods, the two venerable boys who "fit" last week—confessed judgment and paid some $3 each inclusive of costs.

—The correspondent of the Advocate at this point makes a judicious suggestion to the Legislature with reference to the grave of Gov. Shelby. If any spot in Kentucky deserves to be historic—if any sepulcher within the limits of the State possesses an interest for the people of the whole Commonwealth—if any memorial can silently testify of the perilous time when enterprising spirits and fearless hearts and stalwart arms wrested from savage beasts and savage men our godly heritage, and made the wilderness to bloom in cultivated beauty, it is the tomb of Governor Isaac Shelby. Let Kentucky see to it then that the resting place of its proud old chief be appropriately adorned and effectively protected.

"PRAISE THE LORD."

BOWLING GREEN, March 7, 1882.

Writing my last on a new style of paper, lacking the usual heading, I can not tell you how painfully the want of it struck me, as I opened the INTERIOR of March 3. I felt as if my letter were sailing without compass "nailed to the mast-head," as of yore. If by any chance it should be omitted in future communications, please supply the deficiency, in printing, for truly, "PRAISE THE LORD" is my sheet anchor, and I drift helplessly without it.

Yesterday afternoon's services closed the 2nd week in Bowling Green, with our advanced wages paid in full. Two hundred a week, was "best wages" in the mountains. The dear LORD has been pleased to raise to 250, at least, for which we praise HIM beyond the power of pen or language to express. The total of Confessions for the two weeks in Bowling Green is 503; for anointing and healing, 266. Last night—the first service of the third week—there were 27 for the soul and 14 for the body—making the total to writing, 530 for soul and 280 for body—PRAISE THE LORD! I cannot tell you how glorious the victory for Jesus has been. The numerical information but meagerly tells out the power of the dear LORD'S word. To-night we are to have a meeting for men only. The drawback here has been the lack of room for the crowds that nightly throng from every quarter to attend the meetings. The Baptist church is the largest one in town—seating about 600, if pressed to its utmost capacity, with standing room for perhaps 100 more. And at night the jam is indescribable. And yet they patiently sit in discomfort or stand in weariness for 2½ and 3 hours to hear the gospel. O these hungry souls! How it aches the heart to think the harvest is so great and the laborers are so few. For people will come to hear the gospel. These men and women are not brought together thus by curiosity. That soon wears out. Nor the "magnetism" of the preacher. But! Nor for any other reason, great or small, except the immortal wants of the human soul that find their only supply in JESUS. Poor soul! It has lost its God by sin, and moans and wrings its hands, like a child, bereft of its mother, until it gets back that lost God whom it has lost. The "aching void" is too vast to be filled by any thing of earth. The ocean's bed, once emptied, may not be replenished with a quart cup of water. But when JESUS is received, rest comes with HIM, for HE is GOD, and God alone can satisfy. O that men knew what they wanted! O that men knew what they want! O that they would understand that the restless torment they suffer is the torment of their greatness. The soul too great to rest in pleasure, money, ambition, or aught that earth can furnish, and only finding its rest in that GOD, in whose image we have been made, and who is the only abiding portion of the soul. "God manifest in the flesh" is the Scriptural definition of JESUS. Having HIM I have my GOD back again. This is sweet philosophy of "Come to ME and I will give you rest." Dear reader of these lines, receive HIM now!

Last Sunday the rain poured in torrents nearly all day, but excursion trains from Glasgow and Franklin poured their living freight in to swell the congregation that assembled in Odell Hall. A blessed harvest in spite of the "prince of the power of the air," as well as joyful reunion with many dear friends of former years. The trains left after the night service.

I have just returned from visiting the LORD'S patients, scattered around town. I have as much of that kind of work as I can attend to comfortably. I ask the dear LORD not to let any more apply than HE sees I can visit, and so, can keep abreast of all calls within easy reach. So it was in Louisville, also, and I could by comfortable diligence, without being at all rushed, meet every call, until the last day brought a heap of requests that I had to ignore entirely. They were those who wake up after the "11th hour," as many, many will do in the greater matter of the soul. O the pity! We shall probably leave Thursday morning, and if connections are made, begin in Paris that night. Our route will be via Danville Junction. The LORD bless all the dear friends who read these loving lines of greeting from us. The flying messages, en route to the "Golden City," are very precious outlets to the heart. Ever in Jesus.

GEO. O. BARNES.

ON THE CASE, March 9, 1882. The Bowling Green meeting closed last night—little before 11 o'clock, with three hearty "PRAISE THE LORDS" from the entire congregation, that well nigh shook the building, and I am sure was heard in heaven. 110 confessions for the soul and 31 anointed for healing at one of the most delightful meetings we have ever been permitted to hold. 777 for soul and 421 for body, is the grand and glorious total. Blessed three evenings. Ever in Jesus.

GEO. O. BARNES.

Died, March 2, 1882, near Peabody, Kansas, of apoplexy, pneumonia, Mr. Ekanah Bush, in the 48th year of his age. He was born and raised in Clark county, Ky., but married and lived in this county some years, and was for over 30 years a believer in Jesus. R. E. B.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FOR SALE.—Six or eight week Cattle, and 6 or 8 springers. They can be seen at the farm of Danl. Stagg. C. T. Bolton.

MASTERSON PEYTON, ATTORNEY AT LAW, AND EXAMINER FOR CASKY COUNTY, LIBERTY, KY. Will practice in all the Courts of Casey and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals. Special attention given to collections. Office over R. T. Pierce's store.

$500 REWARD!

I will pay $500 for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who murdered my brother, John Shanks, on the night of February 11, 1882, near Crab Orchard, Ky.

SARAH P. WELLS.

Important to those Concerned.

All persons indebted to the estate of John Shanks, dec'd., by note or account, will please call on me at once and settle. Otherwise, suit will be brought to the first Court. All persons having claims against the estate of John Shanks, dec'd., are requested to present them to the Adm'r at once, properly verified and proven.

W. G. WELCH, Adm'r.
